

(Click on headlines for link to full story)

The NLRB canceled my vote

Washington Examiner Online, 10/18/2011

If you've never experienced a card check drive in your workplace, you may not know the difference between card check organizing and traditional secret ballot unionization elections.

Rep. Issa: NLRB Withheld Emails Showing 'Lack of Impartiality' in Boeing Case

Wall Street Journal Online, 10/18/2011

House Oversight Committee Chairman Darrell Issa accused the National Labor Relations Board of another misstep in the agency's complaint against Boeing Co., this time alleging it deliberately withheld documents from the committee to hide potentially damaging email exchanges between NLRB staffers.

Jerry Brown's Union Salute

Wall Street Journal Online, 10/19/2011

This month marks the centennial of California's voter initiative process, and Governor Jerry Brown has commemorated the occasion by signing a law that makes it easier for unions to defeat ballot measures they don't like

Project Mayhem: Part IV Lies, Damn Lies and Things Unions Say

biggovernment.com, 10/1

So I approached Stern at a Cincinnati Teamsters anti-Issue 2 rally (with Jimmy Hoffa also in attendance) to give him an opportunity to explain the discrepancy.

States' Credit Ratings Reflect States' attitudes toward Right to Work

Investors Business Daily, 10/18/2011

State governments with strong credit ratings are far more likely to be a "right-to-work" state. Roughly half of the states with AAA and AA+ credit ratings give employees the right to decide whether to join or financially support a union.

Workers at Medical Cannabis Dispensaries In Colorado Vote for UFCW Representation

Daily Labor Report Online, 10/18/2011

DENVER—Workers at seven medical marijuana dispensaries in Fort Collins, Colo., have voted for representation by the United Food and Commercial Workers, the union announced Oct. 17.